NOTES

Debt/capital ratio is a measure of a company's financial leverage, calculated as the company's debt divided by its total capital. PEG ratio is a stock's price/earnings ratio divided by estimated earnings growth rate in the next year; a lower PEG indicates that less is being paid for each unit of earnings growth. Portfolio turnover is the percentage of assets in a portfolio that changed over a certain period, often a year; higher turnover indicates greater buying and selling activity. ROIC (return on invested capital) measures how effectively a company uses the money investing in its operations, calculated as a company's net income minus any dividends divided by the company's total capital.

Morningstar Large Growth Category funds invest primarily in big U.S. companies that are projected to grow faster than other large-cap stocks. Stocks in the top 70% of the capitalization of the U.S. equity market are defined as large-cap. Growth is defined based on fast growth (high growth rates for earnings, sales, book values and cash flow) and high valuations (high price ratios and low dividend yields). Most of these portfolios focus on companies in rapidly expanding industries. The Russell 3000 Growth Index measures the performance of those Russell 3000 Index companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. The stocks in this index are also members of either the Russell 1000 or the Russell 2000 Growth Indexes. The Russell Midcap Growth Index measures the performance of the midcap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe and includes companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. The S&P 500 Index is a market-value weighted index consisting of 500 stocks chosen for market size, liquidity, and industry group representation. It is widely regarded as the standard for measuring U.S. stock-market performance.
