*The Total Dividends Distributed Cumulative Since Inception is a sum of all monthly income and capital gains dividend distributions since the funds' inception.

The since inception cumulative distribution consists of ordinary income, capital gains and return of capital.

For CHI, CHY, CSQ, CGO, CHW and CCD, based on our current estimates, we anticipate that the following amounts are approximately paid from ordinary income or capital gains: CHI 0.0654, CHY 0.0577, CSQ 0.0650, CGO $0.1000, CHW 0.0700 and CCD 0.0741, respectively. We anticipate that the following amounts are approximately paid from distribution representing a return of capital: CHI 0.0296, CHY 0.0423, CSQ 0.0175, $0.0000, CHW 0.0000 and CCD 0.0929, respectively.

Estimates are calculated on a tax basis rather than on a generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) basis, but should not be used for tax reporting purposes. Distributions are subject to re-characterization for tax purposes after the end of the fiscal year. This information is not legal or tax advice. Consult a professional regarding your specific legal or tax matters. Under the Funds' level rate distribution policy, distributions paid to common shareholders may include net investment income, net realized short-term capital gains and return of capital. When the net investment income and net realized short-term capital gains are not sufficient, a portion of the level rate distribution will be a return of capital. In addition, a limited number of distributions per calendar year may include net realized long-term capital gains. Distribution rates may vary.

Compelling Values and Yields Available in Calamos CEFs

The year-end pressure on CEF prices that often occurs because of portfolio repositioning was generally absent. Improving NAVs, price appreciation and continued robust distributions, relative to other investment alternatives, contributed to the overall product demand at year-end. A lack of supply also supported the CEF secondary market.

Calamos CEFs offered competitive returns through December, all generating total returns in excess of their respective indices for the year. As of December 31, 2017, three of the six Calamos CEFs traded at premiums to NAV, with the average Calamos CEF trading at a 0.97% premium to its NAV at year-end. Although borrowing costs increased slightly as interest rates rose during the period, the reinvestment return more than offset these expenses. An allocation of leverage to fixed borrowing costs early in 2018 should continue to mitigate our exposure to rising interest rates and their impact on expenses.

In a prolonged low interest rate/dividend environment, investors look to CEFs as a source for income—and a means to avoid overbought sectors, high duration bonds or riskier credits. Allocation to equity-sensitive instruments, such as convertibles, has benefited our shareholders by providing them risk-managed participation, lower volatility, and a source of income. Lower-duration, diversified CEF portfolios can countervail the downdraft of bond-market declines caused by rising interest rates and help circumvent the chasing of high-risk investments in search of income.

The portfolios are actively managed. Holdings and weightings are subject to change at any time without notice.

<sup>1</sup>Leverage creates risks which may adversely affect return, including the likelihood of greater volatility of net asset value and market price of common shares; and fluctuations in the variable rates of the leverage financing. The ratio is the percent of borrowing to total assets except for CCD which is based on borrowing to managed assets.

<sup>5</sup>Credit ratings apply to the credit worthiness of the issuers of the underlying securities and not to the fund or its shares. Ratings are subject to change. Bond Credit Quality reflects the higher of the ratings of Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service, Inc. Ratings are relative, subjective and not absolute standards of quality, represent the opinions of the independent Nationally Recognized Statistical Rating Organizations (NRSRO), and are adjusted to the Standard & Poor's scale shown. Ratings are measured using a scale that typically ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). The security's credit rating does not eliminate risk. The table excludes equity securities, cash and cash equivalents. For more information about securities ratings, Please see the Funds' Statement of Additional Information at www.calamos.com. Additional information on ratings methodologies are available by visiting the NRSRO websites: www.standardandpoors.com and www.moodyys.com.

Investing in our securities involves certain risks. You could lose some or all of your investment.

Investments by the funds in lower-rated securities involve substantial risk of loss and present greater risks than investments in higher-rated securities, including less liquidity and increased price sensitivity to changing interest rates and to a deteriorating economic environment. Fixed income securities are subject to interest-rate risk; as interest rates go up, the value of debt securities in the Funds' portfolio generally will decline. There are certain risks associated with an investment in a convertible bond such as default risk—that the company issuing a convertible security may be unable to repay principal and interest, and interest rate risk—that the convertible may decrease in value if interest rates increase.

Shares of closed-end funds frequently trade at a market price that is below their net asset value.

As a result of political or economic instability in foreign countries, there can be special risks associated with investing in foreign securities, including fluctuations in currency exchange rates, increased price volatility and difficulty obtaining information. In addition, emerging markets may present additional risk due to potential for greater economic and political instability in less developed countries.

Investment policies, management fees and other matters of interest to prospective investors may be found in each closed-end fund prospectus.
