Calamos Investments Hires New Chief Financial Officer

Thomas Herman, Previously CFO at Harris Associates and Ariel Investments, Joins the Firm

Naperville, IL; June 13, 2016 – Calamos Investments, global investment management firm, has appointed Thomas Herman as Chief Financial Officer effective June 30, announced John Koudounis, Calamos Chief Executive Officer.

“This important appointment is part of our ongoing evolution as we execute our new vision for the firm. We remain focused on our mission of performance with the goal of broadening the firm’s platform to enhance our core strengths. Tom will play an integral role as we look to expand our talent, diversify products and pursue strategic growth opportunities on a global basis, which make sense for our clients,” Koudounis said.

John P. Calamos, Sr., Founder, Chairman and Global Chief Investment Officer, stated: “Tom will provide invaluable assistance as he works with John Koudounis and the investment teams to implement our plan of thoughtful growth. The objective of John’s strategy is to develop our footprint in ways that will facilitate new and meaningful investment opportunities, looking both at our product mix and new markets. Tom’s expertise will help guide our progress into the future.”

With more than 25 years of investment management experience, Herman joins Calamos from Harris Associates, where he was CFO and Treasurer for the past six years. Previously, from 2004 to 2010, he was SVP, CFO and Treasurer at Ariel Investments.

“Calamos is a stellar firm and an iconic brand with a 40-year track record in the market. I’m joining an impressive team at a very exciting time, and look forward to working in close collaboration with John and everyone at the firm,” Herman said.

Herman is the successor to Nimish Bhatt, who will be stepping down in July. “We thank Nimish for his service and wish him well in the future,” Koudounis said.
