

Calamos Merger Arbitrage Fund

CALAMOS®
INVESTMENTS

OVERVIEW

To deliver absolute returns largely uncorrelated to equity and fixed income markets.

KEY FEATURES

- » Calamos is a pioneer in convertible and options investing, where analysis of public acquisitions and opportunities to alter risk reward through structure is an ingrained part of the investment process
- » Our merger strategy is a natural extension of our experience managing hedged equity and convertible arbitrage strategies for more than 20 years on average as a team
- » Because of this, we believe one of our main edges resides in public acquisitions where there are convertible bonds, liquid options or other securities within a target company's capital structure that allow us to alter risk reward through trade structure

PORTFOLIO FIT

Seeks to deliver absolute returns uncorrelated to equity and fixed income markets.

FUND TICKER SYMBOLS

A Shares	C Shares	I Shares
CMRAX	CMRCX	CMRGX

Absolute Return

Lower volatility, with opportunities for positive returns in most market cycles

Broad Diversifier

Typically lower correlations to both equities and bonds, which can help provide ballast against drawdowns

Strong Alternative

Complementary to other alternative strategies and can serve to complete a robust alternatives allocation

An event-driven strategy that invests in companies involved in potential merger deals

- Our strategy seeks to take advantage of dislocations between proposed deal price and where these companies are publicly trading before the deal is completed.
- May provide a lower volatility/lower correlation to equity markets with a positive return over long time horizons in most market environments.
- Because of uncertainty that an announced merger will be completed, the stock price of the company being acquired typically sells at a price below the announced acquisition price. This price difference is known as the completion risk premium.

Which factors influence the completion risk premium?

- Uncertainty that the deal will be completed
- Time frame of completion
- What the companies are valued at in a standalone scenario with no deal in place

Why Calamos?

- Our merger arbitrage strategy is managed by our arbitrage and volatility focused team that oversees our convertible arbitrage and hedged equity strategies.
- Because of this, we believe one of our main edges resides in public acquisitions where there are convertible bonds, liquid options or other securities within a target company's capital structure that allow us to alter risk reward through trade structure.
- When available, we focus on larger deals, especially when we think they are trading at wider spreads than is justified due to the constraint of merger arbitrage capital.
