OVERVIEW

The fund invests in growth companies globally, whose principal activities are in developing markets or are economically tied to developing market countries that we believe offer the best opportunities for emerging market growth.

KEY FEATURES

- » Stresses company fundamentals, including global presence, strong revenue and earnings growth, solid returns on invested capital, and lower debt-to-capital levels
- » Actively seeks growth opportunities by investing in equities, with at least 80% emerging market exposure
- » Draws upon decades of Calamos experience investing globally through multiple economic, market and credit cycles

PORTFOLIO FIT

This actively managed fund complements EM strategies with less pronounced growth orientations, such as those that more closely track the broad EM equity market.

An Active Approach to Emerging Markets Investing

Calamos Emerging Markets Fund utilizes an active, risk-aware approach with the goal of accessing superior long-term growth potential in emerging markets while also mitigating the downside risks associated with these inherently volatile regions.

HOW MUCH SHOULD INVESTORS ALLOCATE TO EMERGING EQUITIES?

Probably More Than They Have Recently, Given Significant Underinvestment In EM Equities

MSCI Emerging Markets Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalisation index that is designed to measure equity market performance of emerging markets. The index is calculated without dividends, with net or with gross dividends reinvested, in both U.S. dollars and local currencies. Unmanaged index returns assume reinvestment of any and all distributions and do not reflect any fees, expenses or sales charges. Investors cannot invest directly in an index.

Alpha is the measurement of performance on a risk-adjusted basis. A positive alpha shows that performance of a portfolio was higher than expected given the risk. A negative alpha shows that the performance was less than expected given the risk. Beta is a historic measure of a fund's relative volatility, which is one of the measures of risk; a beta of 0.5 reflects 1/2 the market's volatility as represented by the Fund's primary benchmark, while a beta of 2.0 reflects twice the volatility. Debt/capital ratio is a measure of a company's financial leverage, calculated as the company's debt divided by its total capital.

Information ratio is the measurement of the performance returns of a portfolio against the performance volatility of an index or benchmark. Information ratio is generally used as a gauge to measure the ability of a portfolio to generate excess returns of the index or benchmark. R-squared is a mathematical measure that describes how closely a security's movement reflects movements in a benchmark. ROIC (return on invested capital) measures how effectively a company uses the money invested in its operations, calculated as a company's net income minus any dividends divided by the company's total capital. Sharpe ratio is a calculation that reflects the reward per each unit of risk in a portfolio. The higher the ratio, the better the portfolio's risk-adjusted return is. Standard deviation is a statistical measure of the historical volatility of a mutual fund or portfolio, usually computed using 36 month returns. Tracking error is a measure of the volatility of excess returns relative to a benchmark.
