WEEKLY HEADLINES

2019: The Rare Year When Everything Worked

A recent Wealth of Common Sense blog post provides some perspective on the rareness of 2019, a year when all asset classes (large caps, mid caps, small caps, foreign stocks, emerging markets, REITs, bonds, TIPS and gold) worked.

- U.S. stocks (S&P 500) and bonds (5-year treasuries) have risen during the same calendar year 65% of the time since 1926. About one-third of the time one of these asset classes has risen while the other has fallen in a given calendar year.
- Just twice over the past 94 years have both been down in the same year (1931 and 1969).
- Since 1988, emerging markets (MSCI EM), U.S. large caps (S&P 500) and U.S. small caps (Russell 2000) have all risen during the same year in 17 of the past 32 years, or 53% of the time. But they've only been down during the same year five out of 32 years (16% of the time).

Economic Releases vs. Consensus (week of 12/16)

Industrial Production (Nov): 1.1% vs. 0.8%
 Jobless Claims: 234K vs. 225K
 GDP (Q3): 2.1% vs. 2.1%

Economic Releases (week of 1/6)

ISM Non-Mfg Index (1/7)
 Jobless Claims (1/9)
 Employment (1/10)

Definitions and Disclosures

The Nontraditional Bond category contains funds that pursue strategies divergent in one or more ways from conventional practice in the broader bond-fund universe. Multialternative funds offer investors exposure to several different alternative investment tactics. Funds in this category have a majority of their assets exposed to alternative strategies. Bear Market funds dedicate a majority of the fund's assets to equities. Most of the portfolio is dedicated to short stock positions in an attempt to take advantage of anticipated market or stock declines. Managed Futures funds primarily trade liquid global futures, options, swaps, and foreign exchange contracts, both listed and over-the-counter. Commodities Broad-basket portfolios can invest in a diversified basket of commodity goods including but not limited to grains, minerals, metals, livestock, cotton, oils, sugar, coffee, and cocoa. Commodities Precious Metals can invest in precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum, and palladium. Energy Limited Partnership strategies invest a significant amount of their portfolio in energy master limited partnerships, also known as MLPs. Multicurrency portfolios invest in multiple currencies through the use of short-term money market instruments; derivative instruments including and not limited to forward currency contracts, index swaps, and options; and cash deposits. Market Neutral funds attempt to reduce systematic risk created by factors such as exposures to sectors, market-cap ranges, investment styles, currencies, and/or countries. Real Estate portfolios invest primarily in real estate investment trusts of various types. REITs are companies that develop and manage real estate properties. Convertible-bond portfolios are designed to offer some of the capital-appreciation potential of stock portfolios while also supplying some of the safety and yield of bond portfolios. Options-based funds use options as a central component of their investment strategies. Long-Short Credit funds seek to profit from changes in the credit conditions of individual bond issuers and credit markets segments represented by credit indexes. Long-Short Equity funds hold sizeable stakes in both long and short positions in equities, exchange traded funds, and related derivatives.

The S&P 500 Index is considered generally representative of the U.S. equity market. The MSCI World Index is considered generally representative of the market for developed market equities.
