WEEKLY HEADLINES

Options-based Funds Experience Best Week, With Flows 76% More Than the Category's 2019 Best

In a week that saw an 8.1% trading range (see chart below), investors accelerated (and concentrated) their flows into three categories of liquid alternative funds.

Investors rushed into Options-based funds, with net flows totaling $330 million—76% more than the category's best week in 2019. Liquid alts fund categories weekly inflows rarely hit the $300 million mark and when they do it's in Nontraditional Bond or Multialternative funds, categories with the largest AUM. For comparison, a total of $155 billion was invested in Nontraditional Bond funds versus $21 billion in Options-based at year-end 2019.

The second largest flow-gathering category was Market Neutral, whose $59 million total was on par with last year's weekly average for the category. Last week's $42 million in flows into the Bear Market category topped its 2019 high mark of $36 million.

For a longer term look at flows and assets in liquid alts, see our 2019 review.

Definitions and Disclosures

The Nontraditional Bond category contains funds that pursue strategies divergent in one or more ways from conventional practice in the broader bond-fund universe. Multialternative funds offer investors exposure to several different alternative investment tactics. Funds in this category have a majority of their assets exposed to alternative strategies. Bear Market funds dedicate a majority of the fund's assets to equities. Most of the portfolio is dedicated to short stock positions in an attempt to take advantage of anticipated market or stock declines. Managed Futures funds primarily trade liquid global futures, options, swaps, and foreign exchange contracts, both listed and over-the-counter. Commodities Broad-basket portfolios can invest in a diversified basket of commodity goods including but not limited to grains, minerals, metals, livestock, cotton, oils, sugar, coffee, and cocoa. Commodities Precious Metals can invest in precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum, and palladium. Energy Limited Partnership strategies invest a significant amount of their portfolio in energy master limited partnerships, also known as MLPs. Multicurrency portfolios invest in multiple currencies through the use of short-term money market instruments; derivative instruments including and not limited to forward currency contracts, index swaps, and options; and cash deposits. Market Neutral funds attempt to reduce systematic risk created by factors such as exposures to sectors, market-cap ranges, investment styles, currencies, and/or countries. Real Estate portfolios invest primarily in real estate investment trusts of various types. REITs are companies that develop and manage real estate properties. Convertible-bond portfolios are designed to offer some of the capital-appreciation potential of stock portfolios while also supplying some of the safety and yield of bond portfolios. Options-based funds use options as a central component of their investment strategies. Long-Short Credit funds seek to profit from changes in the credit conditions of individual bond issuers and credit markets segments represented by credit indexes. Long-Short Equity funds hold sizeable stakes in both long and short positions in equities, exchange traded funds, and related derivatives.
