WEEKLY HEADLINES

With Market Less Macro-Driven, Stock-picking to Become Increasingly Important

Expect stock-specific factors to become increasingly determinative as investors return to focusing on the varying prospects for companies and industries.

According to Barron's quoting Evercore research notes here and here, major macro events—such as the pandemic, vaccines or stimulus—drove movement in the S&P 500 for much of 2020. At one point mid-2020, as much as 85% of the stock market risk was related to the big picture. That level had not been seen since 2010, when markets were relying on Federal Reserve stimulus to recover from the financial crisis.

"Although the absolute level of macro risk influence remains high, it will drop as the economy normalizes," according to Evercore in December, as factors that can move stocks higher become less broad-based. The macro risk contribution as of last week was 66%, up from 60% in early December. The average level, since 2006, is 40%.

Definitions and Disclosures

The Nontraditional Bond category contains funds that pursue strategies divergent in one or more ways from conventional practice in the broader bond-fund universe. Multialternative funds offer investors exposure to several different alternative investment tactics. Funds in this category have a majority of their assets exposed to alternative strategies. Bear Market funds dedicate a majority of the fund's assets to equities. Most of the portfolio is dedicated to short stock positions in an attempt to take advantage of anticipated market or stock declines. Managed Futures funds primarily trade liquid global futures, options, swaps, and foreign exchange contracts, both listed and over-the-counter. Commodities Broad-basket portfolios can invest in a diversified basket of commodity goods including but not limited to grains, minerals, metals, livestock, cotton, oils, sugar, coffee, and cocoa. Commodities Precious Metals can invest in precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum, and palladium. Energy Limited Partnership strategies invest a significant amount of their portfolio in energy master limited partnerships, also known as MLPs. Multicurrency portfolios invest in multiple currencies through the use of short-term money market instruments; derivative instruments including and not limited to forward currency contracts, index swaps, and options; and cash deposits. Market Neutral funds attempt to reduce systematic risk created by factors such as exposures to sectors, market-cap ranges, investment styles, currencies, and/or countries. Real Estate portfolios invest primarily in real estate investment trusts of various types. REITs are companies that develop and manage real estate properties. Convertible-bond portfolios are designed to offer some of the capital-appreciation potential of stock portfolios while also supplying some of the safety and yield of bond portfolios. Options-based funds use options as a central component of their investment strategies. Long-Short Credit funds seek to profit from changes in the credit conditions of individual bond issuers and credit markets segments represented by credit indexes. Long-Short Equity funds hold sizeable stakes in both long and short positions in equities, exchange traded funds, and related derivatives. Infrastructure equity funds invest more than 60% of their assets in stocks of companies engaged in infrastructure activities. Industries considered to be part of the infrastructure sector include: oil & gas midstream; waste management; airports; integrated shipping; railroads; shipping & ports; trucking; engineering & construction; infrastructure operations; and the utilities sector.
