October 4, 2021 (data as of September 30, 2021 unless indicated)

WEEKLY HEADLINES

Anything Could Happen This Month, Historical Data Shows

October contains some of the strongest seasonal edges of the year—positive and negative—according to a QuantifiableEdges post last week. In a breakdown of the year into one-week periods, the post identified “seasonal tendencies” on and around options expiration, which occurs on the third Friday of each month. The analysis is based on data starting in 1985, the first full year there was an options expiration schedule.

As shown in the table bottom right, all five potential weeks in October are included in either the best 10 or worst 10 weeks of a year. Weeks following the first and third Friday in the month have been among the S&P 500's worst on average while weeks following the second, fourth and fifth Fridays have been among its best.

The only thing that can't happen this October: there won't be a fifth week.

Economic Releases vs. Consensus (week of 9/27)

Durable Goods: 1.8% vs. 0.7%
Personal Income: 0.2% vs. 0.3%
Personal Spending: 0.8% vs. 0.6%

Economic Releases this Week

Balance of Trade (10/5)
Initial Jobless Claims (10/7)
Non-Farm Payrolls (10/8)

Definitions and Disclosures

The Nontraditional Bond category contains funds that pursue strategies divergent in one or more ways from conventional practice in the broader bond-fund universe. Multistrategy portfolios offer investors exposure to two or more alternative investment strategies, as defined by Morningstar's alternative category classifications, through either a single-manager or multi-manager approach. Macro Trading strategies, using either systematic or discretionary methods, look for investment opportunities by studying such factors as the global economy, government policies, interest rates, inflation, and market trends. Systematic Trend funds primarily trade liquid global futures, options, swaps, and foreign exchange contracts, both listed and over-the-counter. Commodities Broad-basket portfolios can invest in a diversified basket of commodity goods including but not limited to grains, minerals, metals, livestock, cotton, oils, sugar, coffee, and cocoa. Commodities Precious Metals can invest in precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum, and palladium. Energy Limited Partnership strategies invest a significant amount of their portfolio in energy master limited partnerships, also known as MLPs. Relative Value Arbitrage strategies seek out pricing discrepancies between pairs or combinations of securities regardless of asset class. Equity Market Neutral strategies attempt to profit from long and short stock selection decisions while minimizing systematic risk created by exposure to factors such as overall equity market beta, sectors, market-cap ranges, investment styles, or countries. Event-driven strategies attempt to profit when security prices change in response to certain corporate actions, such as bankruptcies, mergers and acquisitions, emergence from bankruptcy, shifts in corporate strategy, and other atypical events. Real Estate portfolios invest primarily in real estate investment trusts of various types. REITs are companies that develop and manage real estate properties. Convertible-bond portfolios are designed to offer some of the capital-appreciation potential of stock portfolios while also supplying some of the safety and yield of bond portfolios. Options trading strategies use a variety of options trades, including put writing, options spreads, options-based hedged equity, and collar strategies, among others. Derivative Income strategies primarily use an options overlay to generate income while maintaining significant exposure to equity market risk. Long-Short Equity funds hold sizeable stakes in both long and short positions in equities, exchange traded funds, and related derivatives. Infrastructure equity funds invest more than 60% of their assets in stocks of companies engaged in infrastructure activities. Industries considered to be part of the infrastructure sector include: oil & gas midstream; waste management; airports; integrated shipping; railroads; shipping & ports; trucking; engineering & construction; infrastructure operations; and the utilities sector.
